INFORMATION ON THE RESULTS OF THE COMPETITION

COMPETITION REFERENCE NUMBER	konkurs_23_WS_adiunkt_1_2021
DEPARTMENT	Department of Sociology
POSITION	Assistant Professor (adjunct)

As a result of the competition for the above-mentioned post, the jury selected Dr Agnieszka Nymś-Górna to be employed.

The candidate fulfilled the requirements of the competition.

Justification:

After reviewing the documentation of achievements and interviewing the candidate, the Commission concluded that Dr Agnieszka Nymś-Górna meets all the formal and substantive criteria of the competition. Her advantage in terms of academic degrees is the possession of education in two specialisations in the pedagogy - specialisation in care and work with the family and specialisation in re-socialisation, as well as obtaining the degree of Doctor of social sciences, discipline sociological sciences. The candidate has an extensive record of research, scientific activity and academic teaching. She also has an extensive publication and grant-awarding experience. Her asset is also documented long-term contacts and cooperation with social institutions, mainly in the required aspect of experience in cooperation with institutions and organisations operating in social work, social policy, social support, social work, educational and re-socialisation work. An important asset is her precise research plans, including grants and publications (also concrete plans for foreign publications), which will be very beneficial for the candidate's future, her scientific development, but also important for the Department of Sociology.
